SUMMARY

When collaborating with a geographically distributed workforce, it is important for project management and contributors to be able to identify at any given moment the person or persons responsible for the numerous and diverse project activities. The European Commission also recognizes the efficiency that can be attained in being able to come into direct contact with project participants. Whereas in previous Framework Programmes, the designated “Coordinator” served as the unique contact point with the European Commission, the Grant Agreement developed for the Seventh Framework Programme specifically requests that the Commission be informed of the human resources allocated to the project in a managerial capacity, including the reception of information related to changes in these persons’ contact details (FP7 Grant Agreement - Annex II – General Conditions, pp.4-5).

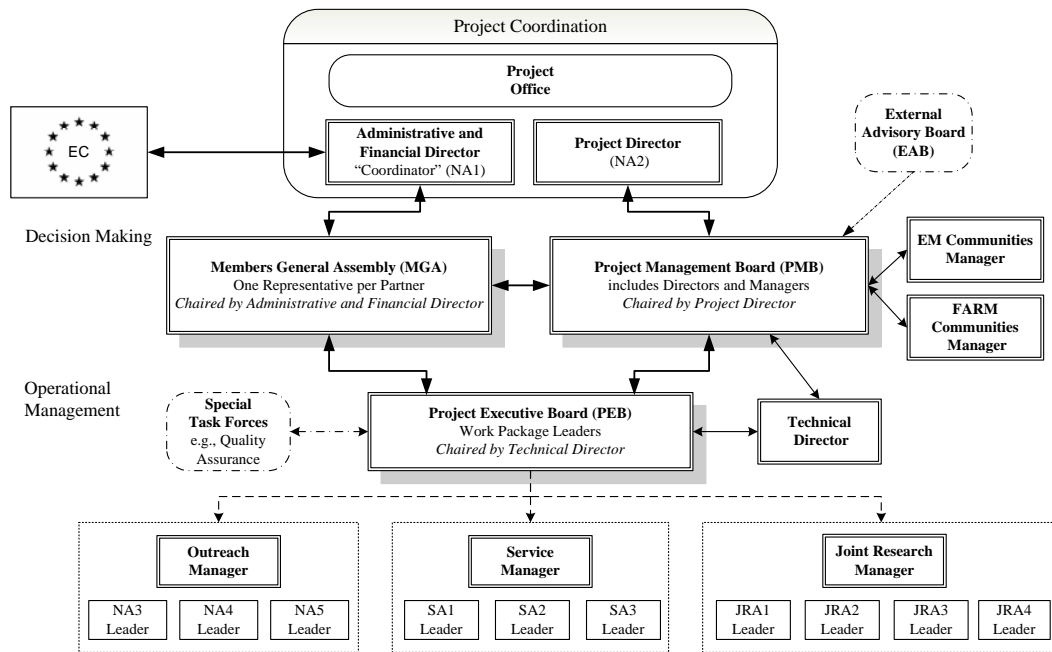

Therefore, the objective of this deliverable is two-fold: (1) To ensure that the Commission is kept informed of changes to the allocation of human resources in the project, and (2) to serve as a reference tool for project participants.

Deliverable DNA1.1b is the second version of deliverable DNA1.1a « Human Resource Allocation », which was submitted at M3. One year has passed between V1 and V2 of this project directory. This latest version reflects the current list of active participants in the D4Science project.

LATEST PROJECT DIRECTORY

The following table presents the most up-to-date contact and profile information for all individuals currently participating in the D4Science project.

Roles of each individual participant, as listed in the project directory tables, can easily be mapped onto the various project management structures described in the diagram below.
